

FREE MCAT RESOURCES COMPILATION

A Curated List of Completely Free MCAT Prep Materials

Written by CINDY ZHENG

You don't need to spend $3,000 on MCAT prep. Here's a curated list of completely free, high-quality materials that thousands of students have used to score 515+.

1. Khan Academy MCAT Collection

What it is: Comprehensive video library covering all MCAT content (Chem, Physics, Bio, Biochem, Psych/Soc, and CARS passages).

Best for: Content review, visual learners, and those who need to fill knowledge gaps.

Link: www.khanacademy.org/test-prep/mcat

Pro Tip: Watch videos at 1.5x speed and take notes in an organized notebook.

2. AAMC Free Practice Materials

What it is: The official MCAT prep from the test-makers. Includes a free full-length practice exam (FL1) and a set of sample questions.

Best for: Getting familiar with the real exam format and difficulty.

Link: Students-residents.aamc.org/prepare-mcat

Pro Tip: Save this free exam for your first full-length practice test—it's the most accurate predictor of your score.

3. MilesDown Anki Deck (Reddit's Favorite)

What it is: A comprehensive, pre-made Anki deck with over 3,000 cards covering all MCAT subjects. Highly organized by Kaplan chapter.

Best for: Spaced repetition memorization (especially P/S terms and Biochem pathways).

Link: Search "MilesDown Anki deck Reddit" or find it on r/MCAT.

Pro Tip: Do 50-100 cards daily. Consistency > cramming.

4. JackSparrow Anki Deck

What it is: Another highly regarded Anki deck, even more detailed than MilesDown. Great for in-depth content retention.

Best for: Students who want comprehensive coverage and have 5+ months to prep.

Link: Search "JackSparrow Anki r/MCAT."

Pro Tip: Pick one Anki deck and stick with it. Don't flip between multiple decks.

5. The 300-Page P/S Document (Khan Academy Notes)

What it is: A compiled, condensed version of all Khan Academy Psych/Soc videos into a 300-page PDF. Covers every single term you need to know.

Best for: P/S section mastery—this is widely considered the single best free resource for that section.

Link: Search "300-page P/S doc Reddit" or find it in the r/MCAT sidebar.

Pro Tip: Read it once, annotate, then use an Anki deck (like MilesDown) to memorize terms.

6. Jack Westin CARS Passages

What it is: Daily free CARS passages (1-2 per day) with explanations. Great for building stamina.

Best for: CARS practice, especially if you're struggling with reading comprehension.

Link: jackwestin.com

Pro Tip: Do one passage daily starting 6 months before your test date. Your CARS score will thank you.

7. UWorld Free Trial (7 Days)

What it is: UWorld is the best Q-bank for practice questions. They offer a 7-day free trial with access to 100+ questions.

Best for: Hard practice questions and detailed explanations.

Link: Uworld.com/mcat

Pro Tip: Use your free trial strategically—save it for when you're deep into practice (not content review).

8. Blueprint MCAT Free Half-Length Diagnostic

What it is: A free half-length MCAT diagnostic exam to identify your strengths and weaknesses.

Best for: Baseline score before you start studying.

Link: blueprintprep.com/mcat/free-mcat-practice-test

Pro Tip: Take this before you start content review so you know where to focus.

9. Reddit r/MCAT

What it is: The largest free MCAT community on the internet. Thousands of study plans, advice posts, and support threads.

Best for: Study schedules, motivation, and navigating tricky concepts.

Link: reddit.com/r/MCAT

Pro Tip: Search "study plan" and sort by top of all time—you'll find detailed 3-month, 4-month, and 6-month plans.

10. Local Library MCAT Prep Books

What it is: Kaplan, Princeton Review, and ExamCrackers books are often available for free at public libraries or university libraries.

Best for: Content review without spending $200+.

Pro Tip: Use Libby or your library's interlibrary loan system to request older editions (they're almost identical to the newer ones).

11. Shemmassian Academic Consulting Free MCAT Study Schedule

What it is: A free, downloadable 3-month and 4-month MCAT study schedule in Excel format.

Best for: Structure and accountability.
